The Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) is a regional-intergovernmental organisation founded in 1967, to promote peace and stability, sustain economic growth, shared prosperity and social progress. It comprises ten countries of Southeast Asia.

The ASEAN Leaders at their 19th ASEAN Summit on 17 November 2011 officially launched the ASEAN Coordinating Centre for Humanitarian Assistance on disaster management, popularly referred to as the AHA Centre. The AHA Centre will facilitate co-operation and coordination among ASEAN Member States, and with relevant United Nations and international organisations in promoting regional collaboration in disaster management.

The Government of Japan, through Japan – ASEAN Integration Fund (JAIF), has provided support for the Establishment of a Disaster Emergency Logistic System for ASEAN. The project is fully funded by the Government of Japan which aims to develop a disaster emergency logistic system for ASEAN through the establishment of a regional stockpile of relief items. The project also aims to enhance the capacity of the AHA Centre and ASEAN member states in disaster emergency logistic operations. It is expected that the regional stockpile will ensure quick availability of emergency relief items that can be accessed by member states.
